Hello Latrice,

I wanted to let you know that I agree with this expenditure. The City has invoiced us for the damages so it is really not a sole source justification but it is being done for documentation purposes. Nick Brescia walked the area with the City and the City along with EPA determined the areas damaged and from that the City determined the cost for them to do the repairs. As the City is legally responsible for the roads within the city jurisdiction, they should be the ones doing the work. This will also keep us from being responsible for the quality of the repairs and any reworks that may happen because of quality as they will be the ones doing the work.

Thanks
Gary Moore
